

The Collaborative for Health Equity Cook County is a proud co-sponsor of the Chicago rollout of the film

I'm attaching a flyer with screening information on the excellent documentary film COOKED: Survival by zip code showing this month at the Gene Siskel Film Center, Chicago.

Two panels will be oriented on public health, the life expectancy gap, and social determinants of health.

Sunday, July 21 5:15 p.m. screening

Panelists:

- Linda Rae Murray (who is featured in the film),
- David Ansell, Rush Univ. Med Center, Moderator
- Maureen Benjamins, epidemiologist

Tuesday, July 23, 8:00 p.m. screening

Panelists:

- Angela Odoms-Young, Public Health Nutritionist
- Fernando De Maio, Sociologist, DePaul MPH Program
- Wesley Epplin, Director Health Equity, Health & Medicine Policy Research Group
- Jim Bloyd, Collaborative for Health Equity Steering Committee, Moderator

The online flyer and link to tickets is at <https://www.cookedthefilm.com/invite>

James E. Bloyd, MPH

Regional Health Officer

Cook County Department of Public Health

Oak Forest Health Center

15900 S. Cicero Avenue, Building B

Oak Forest, IL 60452

708-633-8314 (office)

708-633-8090 (fax)

www.cookcountypublichealth.org